What's That About?

Readers write or email
"What's That About"
editor Liz Bradbury with questions about GLBT issues.

Dear Liz: I don't know if you remember me, but I need your help. I have been looking for information on PA's Hate Crime Law. I have found numerous sites on the overturning of the expansion of the law based on language. I thought I had read in the VGP that it was passed in PA (a while back), but I can not find any article that states that it was passed. Can you supply me more information on the passing of this bill. I did find "The Ethnic Intimidation and Institutional Vandalism Act" which is supposedly the name of PA's Hate Crime law, which was enacted somewhere in the late '80's. Is this the same law or are they two different animals? I did find a site that stated that PA's hate crime bill was passed in 2002. So now I am totally confused on the hate crime bill of PA. Can you supply me with more information on this bill??? Please. Signed, Melissa Emes

Dear Melissa, OK here's the deal -- Yes the original law, that was passed in the 80s, is called the Ethnic Intimidation Act and that is what the real name of the PA Hate Crimes Law is. The original Ethnic Intimidations Act covered race, religion, national origin...etc.

In 2002 an addendum to the law was passed that added sexual orientation, gender identity, and mental and physical disability and added the term -- 'actual or perceived.' This last addition was important because criminals had found a loophole when they attacked a person for being -- say -- an Arab - and then if it turned out that the person that was attacked because the attacker hated Arabs was actually Mexican and then the attacker got off because the victim was not really the class that was targeted. So 'actual or perceived' is important, it made PA's Hate Crimes Law the most progressive in the US.

But then last year, a lower PA Court threw out the newer language of the (Ethnic Intimidation Act) Hate Crimes Law on a technicality based on the way the legislature crafted the law. And unfortunately the PA Supreme Court has upheld the lower court. A new law will now have to be passed by the legislature.

SCOTTY IN THE CITY

By Scott Laubner

"MAN" IN THE CITY

The Naked City has been one of New York's many monikers ever since the 1948 movie of the same name. Some people use the term metaphorically. Others take it at face value (literally). Earlier this month I sat down for a talk with Paul Nocera. Mr. Nocera is the President of Males Au Naturel, New York's naturist group for men. I wanted to know what it is like to be a gay nudist in New York.

"So how old is Males Au Naturel?"

"MAN is twenty four years old and a couple of the original members still participate. At its founding new members were interviewed. Potential members were blackballed if they wore socks to the interview. The interviewers felt they weren't true naturists. The interview for new members has since been dropped."

"What is a MANevent like?"

"Picture forty guys showing up for a party and checking their clothes at the door. While naturist groups around the country meet in members' houses, apartments in New York are too small, so various bars host private parties for the group. The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgendered Community Center was resistant to giving space to the group for our socials. After members agreed to dress to go to the bathroom out in the hallway we were allowed to use the center. I looked into trying to install a port-a-john in the corner of the room. The group has held four successful socials at the Center. In the summer months we take advantage of the weather with outdoor excursions to Sandy Hook and Fire Island."

"What happens when two people at a MAN event want to have sex with each other?"

"That's natural. We have a policy of no hands below the waist, be the waist your own or someone else's. Sometimes a member or members will host a separate after party at a different location. The after party is not an official MAN event."

"Where might a guy from the Lehigh Valley come in contact with MAN?"

We have a website, a clothed informational meeting every month at the community center. And we are marching in New York's Gay Parade. We won't be naked, but very nearly.

Come and check out MAN No strings attached (Literally). Happy Pride Chipmunk Readers!!

MERYL AND MADAME ARMFELDT

As I write this, we are three days shy of the national opening of Mamma Mia, the movie. Along with Dark Night and I Want To Believe, the next film installment of the adventures of X-Files heroes, Fox Mulder and Dana Scully, this comprises my short list of summer movies I'm anxious to see. The list could be longer but then Hollywood doesn't care much about making movies I want to see. At least not in the summertime!

I never saw Mamma Mia on Broadway. Never had the slightest desire. But after watching the trailer and any other video clips I could scrounge up online, I am giddy as a schoolgirl to see Meryl Streep, our national treasure, do all that she does, magnificently, once again. The film has already conjured up great foreign box office sales and is sure to be a hit here, too. Perhaps the biggest hit Meryl will ever be in. Movie goers will be shocked (!) that she can sing and dance AND do comedy. True fans will know she always could.

She first came large into view on my radar in a small role in Julia. But I know I became a Meryl fanatic when I saw The Deer Hunter, as searing a portrait of small town life and the horrors of war as my generation has produced. In one performance after another, Kramer vs. Kramer, Sophie's Choice, Silkwood, Plenty, Out of Africa, Ironweed and a host of others, Meryl has shown us her astounding gift for disappearing into character. Her comedic skills were first displayed in Heartburn and came to fruition in Postcards From The Edge, a film that I watch often, as much for pleasure as enlightenment. At the end of that gem she sings and it's fine. But her voice never impressed me much until I saw what she does in Mamma Mia. It's as if all the things she has done well in pieces throughout her career mesh into a synergy here that will hopefully carry her on to another Oscar. She's only won twice, after all. But then I'm usually ready to give her an Oscar anytime because I believe she's that good. Because I believe she's the best we have.

I take off my director / playwright hats this summer and don the actor's cap myself as "Madame Armfeldt" in the Hugh Wheeler / Stephen Sondheim classic A Little Night Music, a special concert performance under the direction of Richard Bradbury for Genesius Theatre at the Reading Public Museum August 15th and 16th. I'm nervous as a tick about it but can't wait to perform alongside a wonderful cast. You don't want to miss this all too rarely performed classic, or the chance to see me in a dress! It won't be Meryl but I'll do my best! For more information and to order tickets for this gala fundraiser, visit www.genesiustheatre.org.

WDIY SIGNSON!

To Liz Bradbury and Patricia Sullivan,

In May, the Lehigh Valley Community Broadcasters Association, licensee of WDIY voted to approve the attached (the PDN) statement of nondiscrimination requested by you a few months ago.

WDIY and the LVCBA are proud of its history of diversity and is glad to support this initiative. I apologize for taking so long to get to this item. There has been a lot of activity on many fronts for several months at WDIY that have filled the board agendas.

Sincerely, Charles James - President, LVCBA, Licensee of WDIY

"A LITTLE BIT OF HEALING"

by Phil Healing

"GAY MARRIAGE - WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO YOU?"

Well, somewhat. It depends upon your individual situation. OK, let's go through some basic facts first, so we're all on the same page - there's nothing like ignorance to make one an expert. Only two states allow same sex marriage: Massachusetts and California. Civil Unions and/or registered partnerships are allowed in CA, CT, DC, HI, ME, NH, NJ, OR, VT and WA. Now get this: 41 states have statutes prohibiting same-sex marriage, and out of those 41, 27 of them actually have constitutional amendments prohibiting same sex marriage. Why don't we all just crawl back into our caves and scratch our armpits? Who has a passport? Would the last self respecting member of the LGBT family to leave please turn out the lights?

You might be thinking "None of this garbage really affects me at all." If that's the case, you're lucky; you're a minority in a minority. Sorry to make you hear that yet again, but in the gay world, there are quite a few minorities within our minority, as we're all too well aware.

As a gay man originally from the UK, my partner and I got married in the UK in July 2006 and we got married in Canada in September 2007. We have been together 16 years. When I was working in Jersey, we got medical coverage under McGreevey. I guess that's the only good thing I can think of about him. We sure as hell weren't covered because we were married (it was the NJ partnership law).

With a UK civil union, we have identical legal status to a marriage in the UK, ranging from tax exemptions and joint property rights, to next-of-kin status and shared parenting responsibilities. Partnership ceremonies are performed by a marriage registrar in exactly the same manner as a secular civil marriage. Thanks (or not) to Henry VIII, the UK effectively has a countrywide religion and to keep certain people happy, your majesty, the ceremony cannot be one with any religious content (although it's OK in Scotland - go figure).

Anyway, a civil union means, amongst many other things, that writing a will is less imperative; my civil partner can live and work with me in the UK and in every country that recognizes that union, namely the entire European Union (Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain and Sweden), South Africa, Norway (1/1/09), and of course, our dear old friend, Canada.

Do you know how archaic and fearful people are? Is it due to lack of worldly wisdom? Did you know that Andorra, Belgium, The Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary (1-1-2009), Iceland, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, New Zealand, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom and Uruguay ALL have same sex marriage, civil unions or registered partnerships? Did you know that only 12% of the US population have a passport? Did you know that only 12% of the British go to church?

So, when my work visa expires, we may well be going to see a dear old friend for a while. If only I was a girl.

DOGGIE DRAG SHOW AT PRIDE IN THE PARK

The Camp Bow Wow Doggie Drag Show welcomes all pets (and owners too) to participate! Make the costume, brush the hair, clip the nails, teach the trick. Participants judged and prizes awarded in three categories: "MOST CREATIVE," "PET & OWNER LOOK ALIKE," "BIGGEST DIVA." Audience members can vote for the "TOP-DOG" by placing donations in their favorite doggies' dish.

RANTS & RAVES BY STEPHEN T. LIBBY NEW MAG RISES FROM THE ASHES??!

Since I announced the end of Gaydar Magazine in the last issue I have received emails, phone calls and spoken directly with people who have said they will miss it and would like to see it continue and have offered to help in its production. My bf Gary has even said he would like to be more involved.

So here's the thing. Because of the conflict with the name Gaydar we are working on a new name. I would like to take the most popular features of Gaydar (celebrity interviews, reviews, hot models...) and add more features and columns. Most importantly I would like this publication to promote the Lehigh Valley and surrounding areas as a gay friendly place for people outside the LV to invest in whether, as a day visit, vacation destination, to open a business, for a second home or to make a move here permanently.

With the end of Philly's HX magazine I have had inquiries from businesses there to advertise in Gaydar. In order to promote the advertisers, Gary and I have taken this issue to numerous Pride events from New Hope to NJ to Philly to NYC to Reading to Harrisburg and dropped it at bars and GLBT friendly establishments in those cities as well as numerous deliveries to our own Candida's, DiamonZ and The Stonewall. We even took some to Ogunquit, Maine where I personally handed some to Massachusetts Representative Barney Frank and his boyfriend and the grandson of Al Capone (who just wrote a book about that legacy and being gay and has a reality show premiering in the fall). Friends have been kind enough to offer to drop them while on vacation.

We are looking for writers, photographers, advertisers, people who have web design skills and people to help get advertising. As all the ad revenue from previous issues has gone into the printing of each issue, we would happily and gratefully accept donations for start up costs for this new publication.

Though paper and ink costs keep rising we are going to attempt to keep ad rates the same as well as the quality of the heavy stock paper we have been using. Please let me know if this is something you'd like to see for our community, what you liked and disliked about Gaydar so we can make improvements with the new publication and what, if anything, you can contribute. A heartfelt thank you to all who supported Gaydar and to those of you who will take the time to share your thoughts, talent and/or time regarding the new gay magazine. Contact me at STL327@hotmail.com or gaydarmagazine@hotmail.com (until October 2008) Thanks!!!

SUMMER FAMILY FUN

So far the summer has been wonderful. Hot and humid, yet so much fun. Picnics, playgrounds, trips to the beach, carnivals, festivals and fairs. Lots of cotton candy, candy apples and ice cream too. It's a time of hot dogs and hamburgers, visits to cousins and friends, playing in the pool, boating, fishing and family vacations. As a family we look forward to the summers. The days are longer, the weather is great, and there is so much to do. Some times there is too much to do, in such a short period of time that it is nice to just stop and relax as well.

We officially started off our summer with PDN's Rainbow Families Picnic at Emmaus Community Park on June 1. It was a wonderful time for the parents and kids that were there. About 30 people were in attendance. Lesbian mothers and gay dads with their kids, some grandparents, and even PDN board members and their friends helping to make the day fun. There were tiny little babies and some high school age teenagers there. Kids played, parents relaxed, chatted and indulged in all of the picnic goodies that everyone so graciously brought to share. Parents shared child-raising stories, advice, while the kids laughed and played everything from t-ball to the hula-hoop. Even a brief shower failed to put a damper on the fun. Rumor has it that a PDN board member was spotted hula-hooping just as the raindrops began to fall.

By the time the few rain drops hit, the picnic had been going for awhile, so a few felt it was time to call it a day. Others decided to go swimming in the pool when the sun hastily returned. Others hung out and chatted. Parents made new friends and kids made new playmates. With the rain and sun, it is almost certain there was a rainbow overhead, but if there was we did not notice. The diversity of the Rainbow Families was just as beautiful.

Special thanks to PDN for sponsoring this event, board member Adrian Shanker for making balloon animals, and to volunteer Hannah Mesouani for helping with the grilling.

For some additional family fun this summer, information on the Knoebel's event is posted on page 1&4. Although it is not an official Rainbow Family event, it is definitely a Rainbow Family recommended event. Hope to see you all there!

REPORT FROM MISS GAY PA 2008 PAGEANT

"Well, Lehigh Valley...your local female illusionists are making their mark. This year there were 10 contestants at Liquid 891 in Harrisburg competing for the coveted title of Miss Gay PA 2008, 3 being from Allentown. Pretty decent odds if you ask me. The 2 day competition was intense. Deadlines, critique and tight changing quarters did not deter our "girls" from doing what they do best...entertain."

"Although this was my first year in the America Pageant system, I was comfortable with all the surroundings. It was actually fun and I personally recommend the challenge to our other performers. You learn so much to help with the craft. Miss America Michaela Kay is as sweet and helpful as she is beautiful. Although I missed the Top 5 by the skin of my teeth, my impression was made. I was different and my talent number, 'My New Philosophy' from 'Your a Good Man Charlie Brown' was 'refreshing' and 'original.' I have no regrets and want to offer my congratulations to the newly crowned Miss Gay PA 2008...Vicki Dominatrix and her first alternate Domiana Dupree St. James. Both of our Allentown girls. I remember my onstage question from running for Miss Stonewall 2008, 'Do I think there is a need for the art of Female Illusion?' my answer in short, 'Yes!' I believe we clearly proved that.

So, from all of us local queens...we challenge you to come out and support us and your community. Let us entertain you. Ciao for now..." Madalyne DeDa

Ask a "Family" Lawyer By Attorney Kate Lynn

Dear Kate: My girlfriend has a nine-year-old daughter. We have been together since her daughter was two years old; my girlfriend has been a stay-at-home mom and I have been working to support our family. Now my girlfriend has moved out of our home and will not permit me to see or call her daughter. Do I have any rights? I'm sure her daughter is confused and sad!

Signed, Lonely Parent without a Child

Dear Lonely, The first question is whether you have standing to pursue a custody action in court.

The term "in loco parentis" refers to a person who puts self in the situation of a lawful parent by assuming the obligations incident to the parental relationship without going through the formality of a legal adoption. In LSK v HAN, 813 A.2d 872 (Pa. Super. 2002), the parent/mother denied the partner contact with their children. The courts detailed partial physical custody for the partner, but in a related action ordered the partner to pay child support to the parent/mother pursuant to the child support guidelines. The court found that the partner could not argue she was similar to a stepparent and thus not liable for child support when she was involved with the artificial insemination of the parent/mother, acted as a co-parent, attended childbirth classes and was active in the delivery room; she also assisted in selecting names for the children and cared for the children at home while the parent/mother returned to the workforce. Every case will be fact specific and depend upon the details of parenting within the family unit. A "best interest of the child" analysis will be conducted. However, you do have legal standing and case law to back up your request to permit some form of partial physical custody between you and your daughter.

For future reference, how can you cement a relationship with your partner's child? A "second parent adoption" permits a same-sex parent to adopt his or her partner's child without the necessity of terminating that partner's parental rights. Pennsylvania permits second parent adoptions under an appellate case called In re Adoption of RBF, 569 Pa. 269 (Pa. 2002).

As of 2007, four states permitted second parent adoptions by statute, 6 states and the District of Columbia have had appellate courts rule in favor of second parent adoptions, and in 15 states trial courts ruled in favor of such adoptions. The other parent's parental rights must be terminated unless there are no rights to terminate, such as the case in an artificial insemination with an unknown sperm donor.

Of course, whether an adoption petition is granted is ultimately left to the sound discretion of the trial court. Happy Pride, and know your rights!

FAITH PAGES by Adrian Shanker QUEER AND JEWISH STUDIES EXPERT TO SPEAK AT MUHLENBERG

Melanie Kaye/Kantrowitz will be speaking at Muhlenberg College at 7pm on Tuesday, September 23rd. Her talk will be in the Miller Forum of Moyer Hall and is sponsored in part by the GSA. Melanie is an activist and scholar of Queer studies and Jewish studies. Her talk will combine the two subjects. Dr. Kaye/Kantrowitz has a PhD from UC Berkeley, where she taught Berkeley's first women's studies course. She is considered a pioneer of Jewish Women's and Queer studies and has written many books and given many speeches highlighting these themes.

One of her essays was featured in "Nice Jewish Girls" the first LGBT Jewish themed anthology, written in the mid-1980's. Since then, she has written about lesbian power dynamics, racial politics, feminist Judaism, Israel/Palestine, and more. She has taught all over the US, twice as a distinguished chair--at Hamilton College and at Brooklyn College/CUNY--and in fields as diverse as Jewish Studies, Women's Studies, Urban Studies, Race Theory, Public Policy, Gender and Queer Studies. For five years she directed the Queens College/CUNY Worker Education Extension Center in Manhattan..

DrKaye/Kantrowitz currently teaches at Queens College in Jewish Studies, History and Comparative Literature, and recently taught in the Bard College Prison Initiative. She gave up a tenured teaching position to move to New York to work against racism within the Jewish Community.

This is an LGBT/Faith event you don't want to miss. It will be free and open to the public. Contact Jillian Lowery with more questions: 484-664-3235

INTERWEAVE AT UUC

Interweave Continental had a visible presence at the recent Unitarian Universalist Association's General Assembly (GA) in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida -- with over 3000 attendees. During GA, Interweave hosted an annual banquet with a presentation of the Mark DeWolfe award, celebrating longtime outstanding achievement in queer activism. Interweave's winning sermon was delivered to much applause. Congratulations to the winner, Rev. Amy Zucker Morgenstern for her sermon, "How to Be a Great Ally" (available online).

Interweave co-sponsored & provided local speaker, Allyson Diane Hamm for a well-received & attended panel workshop called Cutting Across Oppressions, which encouraged activism crossing racial, gender & sexual orientation lines. It focused on anti-discrimination laws & the case of Susan Stanton, a transwoman who lost her job in a very public way & the positive UU response coming from diverse racial, religious & other backgrounds.

"MAGIC WORDS PLEDGE DRIVE"

Anti-gay protesters were at the Reading Pride Festival, and they'll probably be at the Lehigh Valley Festival, too. Luckily Silent Witness, with their rainbow umbrellas, were at Reading to block these repressed kooks. Let's hope Silent Witness is in place for GLV Pride, too.

Here's the problem though...we just aren't getting enough out of these creepy protesters presence!

At the Reading Festival, I overheard one of the Silent Witness people telling Trish that Silent Witness's goal is to put these protesters out of business by totally ignoring them. That's what they train the Witnesses to do - non-interaction, just hold the umbrellas and don't engage with the protesters. The thing is...I don't think this will "put the protesters out of business."

Silent Witness provides a very significant service to our community. They keep our GLBTA people from "interacting" with the annoying protesters. This is really important because what the protesters seem to want is for our folks to lash out at them physically, so protesters can sue gay people for assault and get big financial judgments. Silent Witness is there as the barrier. Silent Witness keeps our people non-confrontational. Also, Silent Witness protects our people from the occasionally rampant protester who becomes physically aggressive toward us.

But Silent Witnesses umbrellas don't really help us completely ignore the protesters. After all, we're fabulous. We love the rainbow colors of the umbrellas. It's hard not to look at them. The protesters bring little step ladders with them so they can climb up and shout annoying and hateful things over the top of the umbrellas. It makes for a fascinating tableau - in a "car wreck" kind of way. In some ways, the Silent Witness umbrellas focus us on the protesters.

Q: What can we do? A: Let's have a gentle pledge drive that includes a bit of comedy!

Here's how the "Magic Words Pledge Drive" works: Community people make a pledge that every time the protesters say one of the magic words, they'll donate ten cents into a pool of money that will go to GLBT supportive groups. We'll pick out ten of the protesters' favorite words: Satan, devil, abomination, Bible, God, Jesus, sin, "homo-sexy-al", lifestyle, ex-gay -- and every time a protester yells one of those words, one of our volunteers will ring a Ding-Dong School bell signifying that the amount pledged has gone up again. Those who pledge can cap their amount at any level they want for example: Pledge 10 cents for each time they say one of the words, with a maximum cap of $20, $50, or $100.

A share of the money will go to support Silent Witness, because their job is very important, and a share can go to each other GLBTA organization that provides two volunteers to work the drive for a two hour shift. One volunteer will hold a sign explaining the "Magic Words Pledge Drive" and ring the the big bell every time one of the words is said, and the other volunteer will note down how many times the words are said, and occasionally post what the earnings are up to. The constant bell ringing will be heard all over the festival, and GLBTA people will be smiling at every ring!

In other words: Every time a bell ring our angels get more wings!!!

I'll be working on getting people to pledge and volunteer. If you want to do either - please email me: LBradbury@padiversity.org.

DISCRIMINATION IN THE LIBRARY?

Last year, PDN donated a copy of "King & King" to the Allentown Public Library. In February, we were told the book would be placed on a parental review shelf. In other words, children would not be able to self-select the book. Also, the bookplate with PDN contact information would be replaced with the Allentown Public Library bookplate, however, PDN would be credited with the donation. Kathryn Stephanoff, the Library Director, suggested that we could display the Valley Gay Press on the rack near the elevator so patrons could learn about Pennsylvania Diversity Network. So we agreed to the compromise.

Soon after the Valley Gay Presses were delivered, I didn't find any on the rack. I hoped it was because they were popular, but to be sure, I checked at the desk and was referred to the reference librarian. The reference librarian hesitated momentarily when I asked for the Valley Gay Press, then went to a desk behind the reference counter, opened an envelope, took one out and asked if I wanted it. I explained that the patrons who could most benefit from our literature were the least likely to seek it out at the reference desk and that we had been told it would be placed on the rack near the elevator.

I called Ms. Stephanoff about this. She said putting the VGP behind the reference desk was a board decision. "Are all periodicals reviewed by the Board?" I asked. She indicated that they were not, but that she felt the Board might not be familiar with our publication. Still, I was unable to get a clear indication for the basis of the Board's decision. I said I was disappointed that the Allentown Public Library would not publicly display the Valley Gay Press and I pointed out that 10 Berks County Libraries display it.

The rack near the elevator turns out to be specifically designated for not-for-profits. So I called to be absolutely sure Ms. Stephanoff understood we are a not-for-profit. At that point she said she didn't think the rack was still available for display. Finally, I said what I had been thinking all along, in the absence of any substantially reasonable evidence to the contrary, "I have a feeling that our materials are being unnecessarily censored and that there is a possibility of discrimination involved. After all, this is the City of Allentown, the Library is publicly funded and we are a bonified not-for-profit."

It seems a member of the Board is concerned because of the number of children who use the library. We know that at least one library board member voted against our rights while he was a member of City Council, so it is not inconceivable that this matter is being looked at with prejudice. Regardless, the fact that children use the library is not a sufficient reason to deny the public display of the VGP.

Ms. Stephanoff has assured me she feels this can be resolved and has asked that I give her until after the August Board Meeting to bring this to a satisfactory solution.

Stay tuned.

RECEIVE SILENT WITNESS TRAINING BE A SILENT WITNESS AT PRIDE IN THE PARK 2008

Local training will be held Thursday, August 14 at 7:00pm. Training will be held at the Pride GLV office at 1101 W. Hamilton Street, Allentown Silent Witness PA (SWPA) is an organization of gay and straight allies dedicated to providing a non-confrontational buffer between those who condemn others based on their sexual orientation or identity and those they condemn.

Silent Witnesses receive significant training in non-confrontation techniques specially designed for the type of work they do. Only those who have received this training may participate in an event as a Silent Witness.

VALLEY GAY PRESS BOOK REVIEW BY LIZ BRADBURY & OTHER REVIEWERS

The Valley Gay Press Book Review has been reviewing books every month for several years. The Book Review section welcomes reviewers of books of interest to the Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, and Transgender Community to submit their reviews for publication in the VGP. VGP Book Reviews are also published on Amazon.com at the sites of their respective books.

If you would like to review a book in the VGP, please contact Liz Bradbury at lbradbury@padiversity.org or call 610-432-5449. Reviews should be from 150 to 200 words long. They should be about a book that is of specific interest to the GLBT Community, and they should be clearly and concisely written. Your first and last name must also accompany the review.

We believe it would improve the quality of life in the Lehigh Valley for all people to be equally protected from discrimination based upon actual or perceived: race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry or place of orientation, gender identity, marital status, age, disability, or use of a guide animal, in areas of employment, housing, and public accommodation.

QUOTE #1 TASK FORCE HAILS MASSACHUSETTS VOTE TO REPEAL 1913 MARRIAGE LAW

The Task Force hails the Massachusetts House's 118-to-35 vote today to repeal a 1913 law that prevents Massachusetts from marrying out-of-state couples if their marriages would not be legal in their home states. On July 15, the state Senate voted to repeal the measure; Gov. Deval Patrick has said he will sign the repeal.

"The 1913 law, a shameful vestige from another wrong-headed time of denying marriage to interracial couples, became Gov. Mitt Romney's archaic tool in his unsuccessful bid to deny the freedom to marry to same-sex couples. Not only does today's House vote repudiate Romney's efforts to block our marriages in Massachusetts, it also invites couples from around the United States to experience the joy and happiness of celebrating their lives by becoming married in the Bay State." — Task Force Exec Dir Rea Carey

This year, the PA Catholic Conference led the effort to push a PA State Constitutional ban on legal recognition of all same-sex relationships. All PA same-sex couples would be effected (not just Catholics). The PA Catholic Conference's efforts were fueled by a $300,000 grant from the Catholic men's organization the Knights of Columbus.

Also this year the news has been reporting the closings of 18 Lehigh Valley area Catholic Churches due to costs. Reports indicate that many lifetime parishioners feel abandoned.

Hey, I've got an idea...
